Christian "No-Men"

One of the characteristics of the great Christians of all ages has been their independence of mind. Christianity owes its survival in large part to the steadfastness of those who resisted every form of ridicule, temptation or persecution. The spirit of evil has always been at war with the Christian faith. But the faith has triumphed because there were always enough men to say "no" to its enemies.

A Christian has to be a no-man if he is to stay true to himself. He can make no compromise with expediency if he expects to keep his standards high and unblemished. Too many men are mere sheep—ready to accept erroneous ideas without question, to be bullied or cajoled into unworthy patterns of conduct. The faithful Christian, on the other hand, is too honest and too alert to be deceived by evil masquerading as good, or to be hoodwinked by propaganda which panders to the baser instincts of human nature.

During the first few centuries, the Roman emperors represented the No. 1 enemies of the Christian Church. They persecuted Christians because they chose to worship God rather than Caesar. In modern times Christians have had to stand up against the worship of the State, in the triple guise of Nazism, Fascism and Communism. We are still in a time of martyrdom. The Nazi concentration camps have disappeared, but millions now linger in the misery and horror of the Communist slave camps.

The prisoners who suffer for their faith in the Soviet jails are the most easily identified Christian no-men of today. There are many others who also deserve the title, even though their deeds or conduct may be less dramatic, or may, in fact, be totally unrecognized.

These are the men and women who keep their souls free of any influence that may threaten their loyalty to God. Such Christians are not deceived by the world's standards. They are not fooled by the flow of books and newspapers that mock the things they believe in. They refuse to surrender to codes of dishonesty and betrayal in the political sphere. They stand pat by norms of conduct which the decadent sophisticates profess to label as outworn tradition.

The Bible speaks of the time when the Great Judge will come to separate the wheat from the chaff, the good from the bad. Only those souls who have hewed close to the immutable laws of right and wrong will be entitled to the salvation reserved for the just. Only those who have learned to say "no" to God's enemies on all occasions will be invited to abide forever in the kingdom of the blessed.

Christian Gains and Losses
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Dominant trends and influences in almost every sphere of thought and activity become apparent to an intelligent observer as he looks out over any considerable period of time. These, moreover, become so marked that they become fixed, or characterized, in the public mind.

We speak of certain tendencies and forces as "in the air"; we speak of "the age of this, or of that." We are aware of action and reaction and of what my good old professor of economics used to call "the ebb and flow of social ideas." He himself, incidentally, from early years as a socialist had become the chief individualist of his environment. An age emphasizing the greatest freedom of action today, may be the age of many laws, regulations and restrictions tomorrow.

The young observer of today, who sees extensive movements toward church union, and the development of a world-consciousness and a world organization of the Protestant churches, can hardly realize how completely a generation or two ago the trend was the other way. Sectarianism and divisiveness were not only in the air, but right on the ground, with hard, practical reality.

In a Canadian town in which I grew up there were two sorts of Methodism, each church representing a different organization, and there were additional sorts of Methodism in the country at large. There were, likewise, two sorts of Presbyterianism, and there may have been others as well.

Wherever some presumably prophetic soul, or ambitious leader, thought he had discovered a new idea, or a new emphasis, he proceeded to build a new, and sometimes a very narrow and intense, denomination around it.

That rank growth of the sects was in a sense the disgrace of Protestantism, but it also had in it a touch of Protestantism's glory—the emphasis on freedom. Like all great men and good things, freedom is capable of abuse. But freedom is nevertheless great and good.

Today the trend, and I think most of us would say for the better, is all the other way. Controversy has almost disappeared; the things that divided are hardly mentioned.

Yet one of the greatest of Scottish church leaders not long ago spoke of "good controversy" as a great need of our time. And we might well ask whether with all the well-attained gains in present trends we are not in danger of losing some of the essential values of the times when Christians laid so much stress upon their conscientious convictions, and were averse toward compromise.

It is a question to which I shall return.

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold its regular program meeting at the church at 2:15 p. m. on Thursday, Sept. 20th.

The program will be a review of the book "Women and Missions in Missouri." The foreword will be given by Miss Nina Harris.

Mrs. William Reed, Mrs. J. W. Goddard, Mrs. L. E. Ray, Mrs. Chaney and Mrs. Ora Hammond will review the different chapters of the book.

Special music will be a solo by Mrs. B. B. Bess, accompanied by Mrs. R. R. Conn.

A few days ago I saw a 30-minute motion picture filmed from Leo Tolstoy's short story, "THE COBBLER." The theme of faith and religious uplift so impressed me that I wanted all our patrons to see it, and booked it for showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, in conjunction with the regular feature entertainment, "RICH, YOUNG AND PRETTY," a for-all-the-family Technicolor musical-comedy.

The producers have changed the title from "THE COBBLER" to "THE GUEST." There are no "stars" in "THE GUEST" and no super-colossal adjectives with which to describe its spiritual appeal. Rather, it is a parable in the modern idiom. I think you will find "THE GUEST" a unique, satisfying experience.

Joe Ruddick,

Agreement on Peace Pact

in foreign policy and domestic matters.

2. Abolition of the present Allied three-power high commission and substituting ambassadors.

3. Changing the status of occupation troops to defense forces.

The settlement of the German question agreed to, the British, American and French foreign ministers turned to other problems.

An informed official who disclosed the Big Three agreement on Germany said a formal joint communique will be issued tomorrow to announce actions taken by the Foreign Ministers on Germany and other key cold war problems.

Another Session Set
Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Morrison and French Foreign Minister Schuman are to meet again tomorrow morning for the seventh time since their conference began Wednesday.

Officials described the "peace pact" as liberal, but said the Allies intend to preserve some power.

These would include the right to step into German affairs if Communism threatens to overthrow the new West German republic either by a domestic coup or outside aggression.

Officials who reported on discussions so far after a 90-minute night session, said the ministers also discussed these issues:

1. Possible arrangements to speed up a peace treaty for Austria.

2. Italy's plea for drastic changes in its 1947 peace treaty to open the way for fuller rearmament.

3. American negotiations with France which are aimed at obtaining military bases needed for Western European defense.

Formal Announcement Friday
Although behind schedule in their talks, the three ministers nevertheless hoped to wind up their five-day conference with a formal joint announcement of their decisions around noon tomorrow.

Afterward, accompanied by their finance ministers, they are to fly to Ottawa for a special meeting of the twelve-nation North Atlantic Pact Council opening Saturday.

Gagliardi in Tourney Lead

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Joe Gagliardi, conqueror of two champions so far in the first national amateur golf championship, held a two-up margin over a third halfway through the semifinal round of the national amateur golf championship today.

Gagliardi led Tommy Jacobs, 16-year-old USGA national junior titleholder from Montebello, Calif., by two holes at the end of the morning round. Earlier in the tournament he had knocked out Sammy Urzetta, the defending champion, and Charlie Coe, 1949 winner of the national amateur title.

Had $1,080 in Cash in a Crib

A corn crib on the farm of the late Joe Ainsworth, 74, who died August 26, proved to be his bank. $1,080 was found in the crib by James H. Seen and Mrs. J. E. Wolf, 1709 South Summit, after Mrs. Ainsworth had told them she believed her husband had put his money there.

Mr. Ainsworth was not too much of a believer in banks. He had the money in 20-dollar and 10-dollar bills. It was tied up and placed in a tin box which was wrapped in a gunny sack and then hidden in the crib.

Mrs. Ainsworth, who is being cared for by Mrs. Wolf since the death of her husband, told Mrs. Wolf and Mr. Green her husband had some money hid and about where to find it. A thorough search was made and the gunny sack found.

The money was turned over to Charles F. Maggard, public administrator, who is in charge of the estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ainsworth lived on a five-acre tract of land south of Sedalia on route 10. Mr. Ainsworth became ill and was taken to the Bothwell hospital where he died early the morning of August 26.

Heirs in the estate are the widow, Mrs. Ida Jane Ainsworth, two daughters, Mrs. Lola Bakert, 429 Babcock, and Mrs. Nora Kruse, address not known.

Testify 'Phone Service as Hard to Get

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Testimony of representative Cape Girardeau citizens on the poor quality of their telephone service was accepted in substance today by opposing factions at the Public Service commission hearing on a proposed $16,600,000 phone rate increase.

Jerome M. Joffee, Kansas City utilities counsel and leader of the opposition group of Missouri cities, and John Mohler, attorney for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, held a long discussion conference with A. M. Spradling, Jr., Cape Girardeau city attorney.

They agreed to read a summary of the proposed testimony into the record. This will make it unnecessary to bring Cape Girardeau witnesses to Jefferson City next week.

Spradling gave a list of proposed witnesses who, he said, would testify:

1. Many persons in the city want phone service but can't get it before June, 1952.

2. Many persons with party line service want better grades and feel the company has not provided for better service as rapidly as it should.

3. There is a general opinion that the quality of service is not as good as it should be because there are frequent wrong numbers, delays in getting the operator and a large number of cutoffs.

One witness whose testimony was read into the record was Mayor Walter Ford, an undertaker. He said there are delays of as much as six minutes in ambulance calls.

Chief of Police William A. Mills said there are two to four minute delays in police calls and numerous cutoffs daily.

Food, Garb and Toys be Taken Flood Victims

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A tiny woman who has spent her lifetime doing things for others is about to personally deliver $1,000 worth of her donations to Kansas City flood victims.

She is Mrs. Elizabeth McCammon, 71, of Scotch ancestry and moderate means who came to Council Bluffs from Canada 55 years ago.

Miss McCammon has been taking typhoid vaccinations preparatory to her Kansas City trip, on which she expects to give food, clothing and toys to flood-stricken families of servicemen. She said she expects to leave here for Kansas City Saturday night.

Alert American Air Force in Korea On Sneak Attack

In Korea, the U.S. air might will not be hurled against Manchuria until the Reds make the first move.

The Reds reportedly have built up an air force for Manchuria which is about equal to U.S. air power in Korea. And responsible officials expect no quick victory if the Reds use this power.

The air force in Korea has had ample warning against a sneak attack and planes and equipment are being dispersed at airfields to minimize losses in case an attack comes.

The big edge which the U.S. Air Force appears to have in combat with the Red jets lies in pilot superiority and better gun sights. American jet pilots have run up a top-heavy score against the Red jets.

One big advantage on the U.S. side would be the long distance which Red planes would be forced to fly to reach the combat zone. Flying from Manchurian bases would cut down their "time-on-target" and ability to do battle with American jets based closer to the front lines.

Mrs. James Ellis gave a talk on "The Country Women of the World" and Mrs. Edward Hefferman gave a talk on "Student Loan Fund."

Communications were read by Mrs. Ellis, various committees reported. The club voted to send clothing to children in Korea.

Roll call was answered by "A quality that makes a woman charming." Devotional leader, Mrs. John Fowler gave a scripture reading and led in singing. Mrs. John Kelly was in charge of the social hour.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Rube De Launty's 1911 Stoddard-Dayton, recovered from a near "drowning," swept out of a garage under its own power today to resume the battle of the ancient autos.

De Launty and Jack Brauser, piloting a 1913 Stanley Steamer, planned to shove off shortly for a late afternoon run to Waterloo, 112 miles east.

Charged with intent to kill in the attempted break, they pleaded guilty yesterday before Circuit Judge Tom Moore.

Alfred Hoffman, 20, and Ronald Wyrick, 18, were sentenced to serve 12 months each in the state penitentiary. They previously were under sentences of three years each for car theft.

The other three prisoners, Patrick McPhee, George Harwell and Tommie Young, received sentences of 10 years each. All were under sentences to serve two years each at Alcoa reformatory to begin serving those terms.

Sheriff Clay Hodges was returning the five men to their cells Tuesday night, when Wyrick struck him on the head with a table cigarette lighter. The sheriff knocked out Wyrick with his pistol and then floored Hoffman, who rushed him. A deputy then took the three back to their cells.

Wyrick and Hoffman, both absconded with leave from the Lockland, Tex., air base, were arrested last month for stealing a motor car here.

Divorce Is Granted

A divorce was granted in circuit court, this morning, to Henrietta from Lyle Crockett by Judge Dimmitt Hoffman. General indignities were alleged.

The court awarded the plaintiff the care and custody of their minor child.

Henry C. Salveter was the attorney for the plaintiff.

Faurot Will Start With a Green Squad

Has But Single Letterman in First Offensive

By Skipper Patrick
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 14—(P)—Folks who've been suggesting that the game of football be given back to the kids should take a look down University of Missouri way.

Coach Don Faurot, famed for large and hefty squads deep in lettermen, will have one of the greenest teams ever to operate in the Big Seven conference this fall.

If the opening kickoff were tomorrow, Faurot would have three lettermen or less in his offensive lineup. He could call on only six lettermen for the defensive unit.

Missouri opens against Fordham Sept. 22 at Columbia. Faurot, dean of Big Seven coaches, says it's the most undermanned squad he's had in 25 years of coaching college and university teams.

"We are moving awfully slow," Faurot says. "The squad reported in fine physical condition, but we are undermanned and we'll be depending on freshmen to come through early. That's a lot to ask of boys fresh out of high school, but we don't have much choice."

And while some observers are wondering how Faurot got so short handed of experience personnel all of a sudden, others contend the split-T inventor might not do badly this fall.

The attack is being built around Junior Wren, 185-pound left half and the lone returning regular back from 1950. Wren, a senior, averaged 5.5 yards per kick last season and is a fiery player. Either Bob Schoonmaker, 185-pound sophomore, or Jim Hook, 168, up from the B team, likely will start at quarterback against Fordham. Veteran Harold Carter or freshman Jack Fox look best at right half. Bill Burkhardt, who played only on defense last year, is the No. 1 offensive fullback.

Only one letterman, senior Roger Kinson at center, is listed in the first offensive line.

Has 18 Sophomores
All told there are 18 sophomores and 17 frosh in Faurot's plans. Center Bill Fuchs and guard Bob Castle, both lettermen, should make Missouri's first defensive unit tough.

Schoonmaker, of Lebanon, Mo., who runs well and loves to tackle, may prove a standout from the start.

A lot is expected from freshman Fox, 170, southpaw passer from Monett, Mo.; Charles Bull, 192, tackle from Maplewood, Mo.; Pete Ekmern of Mexico, Mo., and Ike Jennings from Crystal City, both 190 pound ends, and quarterbacks Vic Eaton, 180, St. Joseph, and Tony Scardino, 165, Kansas City.

The probable starting offensive line will average about 200 pounds, a far cry from the heavyweight forewalls Faurot has put on the field in past seasons. The backfield, with plenty of speed, averages about 180.

Missouri has finished out of the first division only twice since Faurot took over in 1935. Rival coaches say the Tigers will do well to finish fifth this time.

But if the young Tigers do well in their first three games—Fordham, Oklahoma A & M, and S.M.U.—latter-jawed Faurot may pull a few surprises in his own league.

Missouri opens its conference slate against Colorado at Boulder Oct. 13, follows against Iowa State at Ames, Ia., Oct. 20; Nebraska at Columbia, Oct. 27; Maryland at College Park, Nov. 3; Oklahoma at Columbia Nov. 10; Kansas State at Columbia, Nov. 17 and Kansas at Lawrence, Dec. 1.

Suit Filed on Imprisonment

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23—(AP)—A $10,000 damage suit was filed in circuit court yesterday charging false imprisonment in connection with the investigation of the recent slaying of Matt Jones.

The suit was filed in behalf of Raymond J. McGuire, 26, against Charles W. Turner, an investigator in the prosecutor's office.

McGuire, who had been sought for five weeks as a grand jury witness in connection with the Jones slaying, alleged that he was arrested without a warrant and "maliciously imprisoned in an improvised stockade and prison at Grandview."

McGuire was a law student last year at the University of Kansas City and for a short time was employed as an investigator in the offices of Alfred H. Osborne, a lawyer.

Tigers Face Owls Tonight In 1951 Football Opener

Teams Appear Well Matched; Tigers Ready

"The players are looking much better, but Friday night will tell," said head football coach Ralph "Stub" Dow of his Smith-Cotton Tigers after they had completed their final preparation for the game tonight at Liberty Park against a veteran studded Marshall Owl eleven. The opening kickoff is slated for 8:00 p.m.

Seven lettermen and two provisional letter winners will be in the starting line-up as the Bengals shoot for their fifth win over Marshall in as many years. The streak started in 1947.

Thirty-nine men will dress-out for Smith-Cotton tonight. Marshall will bring a squad of 24 men to the Tiger gridiron.

Owls Well Seasoned
Coach Roy Preston of Marshall has a team that could be considered more seasoned than Smith-Cotton. In returning lettermen he has enough players to field the starting eleven. Preston said the Owls have improved as they went along, but still need much work.

The Marshall gridgers have underwent rough drills, showing good blocking and tackling. The team spirit is high among the 65 Owls out for the varsity.

Returning Owl Lettermen
Returning Owl lettermen who will be starting against the Tigers for Marshall are End Bill Evans, tackle Bob Boatright, and Joe Davis, Jim Kilp, and Kenneth Dudenhofer, all backs. Lettermen not on the starting team are Ernest Hammer, center, Bernie Deal, guard, Russell Underwood, guard and Jack Lyon back.

Letterman tackle Bill Preston is disabled by an ankle injury and is not expected to see action tonight.

The Marshall line averages about 175-pounds according to Marshall sources while the backfield average is around the 160-pound mark.

In discussing the Tigers as game time neared, Dow said, the boys were in much better condition than before. It took some time for many players to work the kinks out according to Dow but they appear prepared now.

Tiger Offense Not Definite
Whether the Bengals will open the season with the single wing or T formation is a unanswered question. In the dress practice Thursday the team went through the motions of both offenses.

The starting backfield of Bill Arnold, quarterback, Floyd Burton and Dave Lingle, halfbacks and Bob England averages near 160 pounds. The starting line of Ford and Dent, ends, Allcorn and Phelps, tackle, Walsh and Bain, guards and Skip Schulz, center averages nearly 170 pounds.

Dow said he plans to play as many boys as possible in tonight's game. The reserves are talented this season and hold-up the average weight of the starters.

Lane May See Action
Bob Lane is also expected to see action in the backfield for the Bengals, but it will probably be limited because of a shoulder injury sustained Tuesday.

When Dow was asked if he had any hot-shots this season he replied, "No, I don't have any stars, but I have got a ball club."

Lingle is the only starter who is not a senior. He is a junior. His halfback mate, Floyd Burton is expected to carry the brunt of the Tiger offensive attack on the ground with Arnold leading the aerial game.

The forward wall may prove to be a stone one on defense. In the final contact scrimmage several players looked good.

Weights Are Similar
In comparing the two teams weight, veterans, and drills the game appears to be a toss-up. Both teams are well trained and have the high school hustle. Both teams will be decked out in new uniforms.

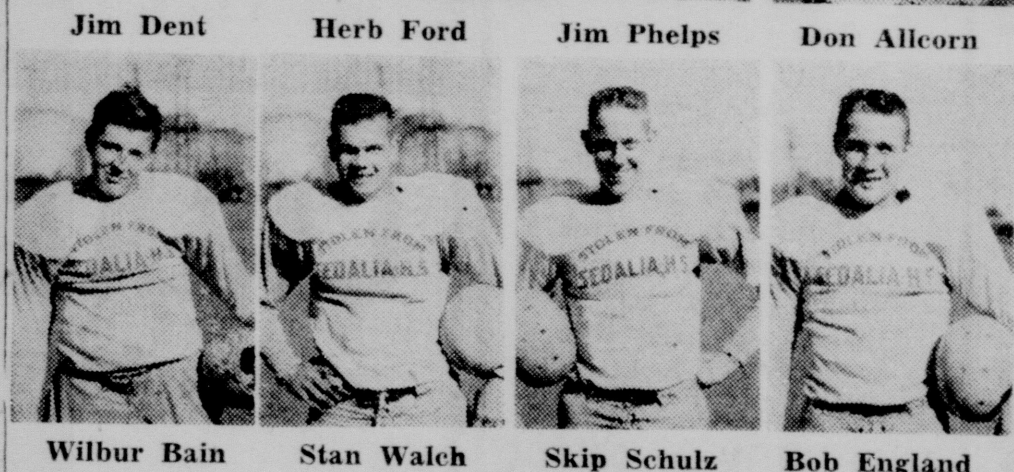

The Tigers have four more home games on their schedule after tonight's contest.

'Mules' Ready to Show Kick Today

Central Missouri State gridmen will show the fans just how much kick the "Mules" team has this fall in a play-off game with Southwestern Kansas at Winfield this Friday. Coach Tate "Piney" Page will take 40 men, 16 of them lettermen, for this the first game of the CMSC grid campaign. For the last three weeks Coach Page, backfield coach Harry Fritz, and line coach Hal Yinger have been firing up a 63-man squad to pick the best among them. Included in the lineup at Winfield for the "Mules" will be lettermen Joe Lowe, tackle, of Paseo High; Larry Mack, end, of Southeast; Dewey

His Teams Have Won 38, Lost 13 In 6 Years

Dow Starts Seventh Season As Head Grid Coach At S-C

Ralph "Stub" Dow starts his seventh season as the chief football coach at Smith-Cotton tonight when his Tigers encounter the Marshall Owls.

Going into tonight's contest Dow boasts a record of 38 wins and 13 losses. His best seasons were in 1948 and in 1949. During the '48 season his club won nine while losing to William Christman of Independence. In '49 the Bengals lost only to the North Kansas City Hornets, while defeating eight other opponents.

The Central Missouri Conference is entering its sixth year of operation. Of the five past years, Smith-Cotton has won three of the five titles. Dow's winning years in conference play were 1946, 1948, and 1949.

In the years that the Bengals

Players Place $1,000 to Charity

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 14.—(P)—Jim Kelly of Peoria and Fred Schlichtman of Centralia, Ill., two Bradley basketball players involved in point rigging, appeared before a Peoria county grand jury yesterday and placed $1,000 on a table to give to charity.

Robert Kavanaugh, their attorney, revealed the action. He said the youths asked State's Attorney Michael Shore to give the cash to a businessman they named. They requested his identity be kept secret so when he distributes the money the charities would not know the source.

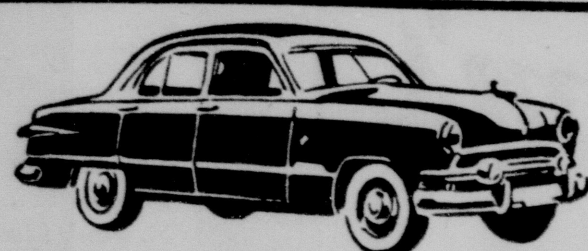

Kavanaugh quoted Kelly and Schlichtman as saying they did not attempt to shave points in a December 7, 1950, Bradley game with Oregon State in Peoria.

Kavanaugh quoted them as saying they received $1,000 from teammate Gene Melchiorre and thought

Dodgers Are Practically In For Series

Yankees Prospects Are Not as Bright Due Losses

By Ralph Roden
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York's prospects of a 10-cent World Series are not so bright today.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, streaking six games ahead in the National League are just about "in," but the New York Yankees are showing signs of cracking up in the American League scramble.

The Yankees have played horrible baseball of late. It began on Tuesday when they dropped a double header to the tail-end St. Louis Browns. The Yanks rested Wednesday, but the layoff did them no good.

Virgil Trucks and the Detroit Tigers turned back the Bombers, 9-2, yesterday. However, the Yanks remained one game back of the front-running Cleveland Indians, who dropped a 1-0 decision to the Senators in a night game at Washington. The third place Boston Red Sox took advantage of the Yankee and Indian defeats, beating St. Louis, 5-4, in 10 innings to climb within 3 1/2 games of the top.

Brooklyn pulled six games ahead of second place New York without lifting a bat. The Giants dropped a 6-4 decision to the St.

lost the night portion of the twin bill to Warren Spahn and the Boston Braves, 2-0. Spahn allowed only one hit—Al Brazle's sixth inning single, in posting his 20th victory.

Mickey Mantle started the Yanks off in grand style by belting Trucks' first pitch for a home run.

The odd twin bill came about when the Cards' game with the Giants was rained out Wednesday. In order to get the game in, the Cards scheduled it for yesterday afternoon as they previously had arranged to meet the Braves in a playoff of another postponement. The three-team attraction was the first in the majors since the 1880s.

All other National League clubs were idle.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
Secret of Sunlight Found

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 — A revolutionary discovery has been made by three scientists at the National Institute of Health. They have discovered the secret of sunlight. This is behind the recent statement by Dr. James Conant, president of Harvard, that solar energy will surpass atomic energy in the near future.

The scientists, Dr. Dean Burk, a cancer research expert; Martin Schwartz, a biochemist, and Jerome Cornfield, a mathematician, have found an efficient way to release the energy of light in the laboratory. They are growing plant life in test tubes from light, water, carbon dioxide and one-celled algae.

This discovery, based on earlier research by the great Nobel prize winner Dr. Emil Warburg of Germany, promises to unlock the key to these possibilities:

1. Produce plant life in "food factories" cheaper and more efficiently than present-day farming. Less than 1 per cent of the sun's energy is utilized now in farming, and if food can now be grown by artificial sunlight, the survival problems of such crowded areas as Japan and England could be solved. Japan, with a teeming population and many mountains, has existed in the past chiefly by foreign trade and foreign conquest. Today the American people are spending one billion dollars annually to support her.

2. Provide hydrogen gas in unlimited amount by taking it from water by sunlight.
3. Convert sunlight into electric power. This could make Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and California the great industrial centers of the USA; could even shift the industrial population from around Pittsburgh and Chicago to the southwest.

In fact, the discovery shortly to be announced by the National Institute of Health could be more important than that of President Truman after Hiroshima on August 6, 1945.

With the AP's William Oatis locked up in jail and with it dangerous to send other American newsmen into Czechoslovakia, it's been difficult to get accurate reaction to the barrage of friendship-freedom balloons sent across the iron curtain to the Czech people.

However, the Czech prime minister, Antonin Zapotocky, tipped his hand recently with conclusive evidence that the friendship messages were hurting. He made a violent speech in parliament bitterly attacking the balloons.

"We are building our defense," he said. "We are detecting spies and assassins. We sentence them and give them the punishment they deserve (probably referring to Oatis). We will save our harvest. No American beetles will destroy it."

"They cannot attack us openly as they have done in Korea, so they try to infect our country with rabble and filth. They smuggle saboteurs, spies, assassins and American beetles into our country — or at least balloons with propaganda leaflets."

Other information smuggled out by Czech refugees indicates that Communist authorities were greatly disturbed by the leaflets. Fourteen million were launched from Bavaria, ten miles from the Czech border, and reports are that so many of these rained down over the big cities of Prague and Pilsen that some streets were literally white.

Looking Backward
Forty Years

Cullen Cain, a former Sedalia printer and later a writer on the staff of the Topeka, Kas., Journal, was in the city en route to Warsaw to visit with his family who are guests of relatives there.

John T. Heard arrived home from a week's business trip to Manitoba and other provinces in Canada.

The Pettis County Commercial and Industrial council is sponsoring a lecture on "Wheat Culture" to be delivered by Prof. J. C. Hackleman of the Missouri agricultural college. Other speakers will be Editor T. B. White of Warsaw and N. H. Gentry of Sedalia.

Clyde Bowers has returned Pueblo, Colo., where he has been working as a railroad telegrapher during his vacation season.

Dr. E. E. Holtzen, who for a considerable time has been in New Mexico, was called here on account of the illness of a relative and contemplates remaining.

Boot and Saddle Club at Fair

September 7, the Otterville Boot and Saddle club were guests and entertainers at the Versailles Fair. They performed one of the best drills of the season and competed in several races and games.

A total of $117 was won by members of the club. Duane Brocken topped the list by winning $40 in one of the horse races. Second high money was won by Harold (Cotton) Burford, who also won first in horse racing, $17.50. Jim Putnam, Bill Thomas, Kenny Burford and Ken Romic came in winning $10 each. Jack Smith and Porter Cole won $7.50 each with Bob Bishop winning $5.00.

Leo Smith, first drill match, even though he did not win any of the money put on quite a show in the chair race, always missing and sitting on the ground.

The president and founder of the club, Alene Harper, was very well pleased with the evening show.

Festival For Christian Education

Dr. Keisler to be At Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday

A Christian Higher Education Festival in recognition of the importance of Christian colleges and seminaries will be held during the regular worship hour at Trinity Lutheran church, Tenth and Osage on Sunday, September 16th, according to the pastor, the Rev. C. Arthur Freeberg, pastor.

Features of this festival will include a guest speaker, the Rev. Dr. E. Bryan Keisler, president of Central Lutheran Theological Seminary at Fremont, Neb., special music by the choir, presentation of special gifts for Christian Higher Education by the congregation and a family contributive dinner following the worship.

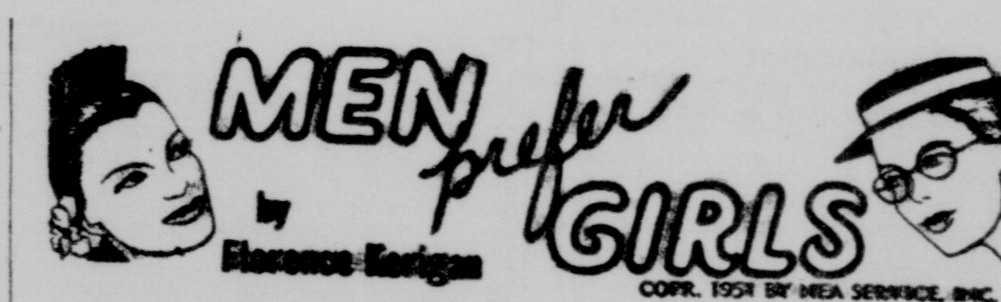

Dr. E. B. Keisler

The guest speaker is a native of South Carolina, a graduate of Lehigh college, Hickory, North Carolina and also of the Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary. Dr. Keisler has also earned the following graduate degrees: A. M. from Wofford college, Spartanburg, S. C., his S. T. M. from Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio, and an S. T. D. from Temple university, Philadelphia, Pa. Lenoir honorary D. D. in 1936. He is also an honorary member of the Blue Key national fraternity.

Prior to his coming to Central Seminary in 1947, Dr. Keisler held missionary for the Georgia synod of the United Lutheran church and as a professor at Newberry college in South Carolina and Carthage college in Illinois.

Dr. Keisler's appearance here is in connection with the local congregation's effort to do its part in the six million dollar campaign of the United Lutheran church to aid

THERE was the sound of running feet, and Ray Porter's familiar voice crying, "Steve! Wait!"

Holly Dunstan didn't know how Steve Tracey could be there, but here he was.

"Let her go!" he shouted at Jose Monteria, and then there was a blur of flying fists and Jose staggered back, holding his jaw.

By that time two servants and Ray had caught up with Steve and managed to hold him back.

"How did you get out of jail?" demanded Jose, furiously. "Not until she married me were you to be released—nor for a long time after!"

"Hernandez put up bail for him," groaned Ray. "But now—!"

"Now, for assaulting an officer you go back, and there is no bail!" screamed Jose. "Understand? No bail!"

"Steve," said Holly, urgently. "Listen to me! I promised to marry Jose so that you wouldn't be shot as a spy. Now look what you've done!"

Jose turned to her. "Go with them," he said. "I shall see you tomorrow. Remember, and I shall insist you keep your promise—but he—he will get all the law demands!"

"Well!" Ray said to Steve as they climbed into his car. "I must say you've made a mess of things now!"

"Did you think I'd let Holly marry that guy just to save me from a few weeks in the puke?"

"A few weeks!" cried Holly. "He told me they were going to shoot you!"

"They might at that!" said Ray. "Now you've assaulted an officer of the law too! There's a limit to what Hernandez will do even for a future son-in-law. Why didn't you keep your head?"

"Keep my head!" Steve shouted back at him. "Why, he was trying to kiss Holly!"

"She's probably been kissed before," said Ray drily.

Two police stopped the car outside of town and took Steve out of it, and led him to jail between them. Holly looked after him, yearningly.

Then she cried, and Ray patted her arm awkwardly. "What are they going to do to him," she sobbed.

"Who knows?" he said, glumly, then with forced gaiety, "You and Elsa can take him cake and cigarettes every day—it'll give you something to do."

"It isn't a laughing matter!" she sobbed indignantly.

"You can say that again," he agreed.

There was no sleep for any of them that night. The news set Elsa to crying, and that started Holly off again. Ray called the governor, and this time he hung up in despair. It was apparently worse to sock the chief of police in the jaw than to plot against the government!

THEY sat around and alternately snapped at each other, and tried to encourage each other until the first streaks of dawn. And then from the direction of the village they heard a roar of voices and the sound of gun fire. They looked at each other with white faces and horrified eyes.

Ray ran to the window and Elsa and Holly followed. A lurid glow was spreading over the village which lay below them like a toy town. It grew in intensity and blotted out the paler glow of the sunrise. Men's voices came to them, shouting, muffled by distance, but ominous. Then past the gate came other men running, shouting, singing, and firing rifles as they ran. They were working men from the adobe houses back in the mountains—the men who helped with the banana cutting. "They've set fire to the jail!" Ray gasped.

"Americanos!" shouted one man as he rushed by.

Elsa caught his arm. "Ray! If it's against us Americans—don't go down there!"

He released her hold on his arm gently, pressing her fingers affectionately. "I have to, Elsa. Steve's down there and I have to do what I can to protect him in the name of the United States Government. That's what I'm here for—besides growing bananas. I'm consul, and I represent the flag."

"But you can't do anything," Elsa begged. "You know as well as I do that these people are irresponsible when they're stirred up as they seem to be now!"

"I know," he said, "but a chance word may turn the tide the other way just as easily."

HE had been arming himself with a revolver in a shoulder holster as he talked and putting extra ammunition into the pockets of his light coat.

"You stay here," he told Elsa and Holly. "Lock the doors and barricade the windows like we do for hurricane warnings, and don't let anyone inside."

The two women stood motionless for all of five minutes, watching his hurrying figure growing less and less distinct as it moved down the mountain trail toward the red-lighted cluster of houses around the police station and jail.

Then they turned with the same impulse and began putting on their coats.

"If he thinks I'm going to stay here while he's . . ." began Elsa. "You stay here while I go—"

Holly shook her head. "I'm going with you. If I hadn't come down here, none of this would have happened. And maybe—if I see Jose—"

"I'm afraid it's gone beyond Jose's powers to help," said Elsa worriedly. "That poke Steve took at Jose was an insult all the people have resented. It looks to me as if they're storming the jail—to lynch Steve!"

Economy Wave and Lack Of Defenses Make Panama Canal Zone Life Uneasy

EXPLOSIVE SURROUNDINGS: Political unrest among Panama natives, like the ones gathered for this demonstration, make life in the Canal Zone uneasy because of anti-American overtones.

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

PANAMA—Ships using the famous Panama Canal are traveling through troubled waters. All is not well, either in the U.S. Zone or in the Republic of Panama.

Morale of the 4,000 Zone employees, American citizens whose principal mission is to keep the Canal operating, is at rock bottom. Great numbers are threatening to go back to the States, claiming that they will be forced to do so.

Barely reconciled to a recent drastic cut in their number, Canal employees are now going through the first major reorganization of the complicated Canal activities since 1912. The reorganization is aimed at making all of the Canal enterprises pay for themselves. Since it was opened, the Canal has accumulated a deficit of $193,000,000 for U.S. taxpayers.

To get the big ditch on a paying basis it is likely that rates must be raised for ships passing through. And Zone residents fear their already high cost of living might go higher if government commissary prices go up, which is very possible.

In addition to that dismal prospect, Canal employees have just been given the shocking news that henceforth they will have to pay federal income taxes, from which they have always been excused because they worked out of the country.

Zone employees also are very bitter because they feel the army is seriously neglecting their safety in the event of an enemy attack on the Canal.

Accustomed to the war-time force of 50,000 troops, plus heavy naval and fighter plane defenses, which guarded the Canal, residents are worried because no fighter planes are based in the area, that there is almost no naval defense and that only a few anti-aircraft battalions with antiquated radar — they have been asked to help man—exist.

They are completely dissatisfied with the Department of Defense's contention that the Canal can no longer be considered a top-priority defense area. Military experts claim the only potential enemy, Russia, doesn't have the means of making an outright armed attack on the Canal. Further, they say the U.S. now has a two-ocean navy in case the Canal is wrecked.

Pfc. Cox to Supply Group

In spite of the down-grading of the Canal Zone as a defense area, the military maintains elaborate counter-espionage operations. All Russian or suspected ships are boarded by Marines before they are permitted to go through the Canal.

The 10-mile-wide strip of land bisecting the Isthmus of Panama which they occupy is surrounded on both sides by an explosive political situation in the Republic of Panama featuring violent anti-American overtones.

Former president Arnulfo Arias, who is known to be very unfriendly toward the U.S. and who was accused of pro-Nazi sympathies during the war, is now in jail on a vague murder charge. But he is said to be gaining strength in the National Assembly. Adopting the martyr role, he has won the sympathy of large groups of the Panamanian population and is said to be increasing his behind-the-scenes influence in the government steadily.

He was largely responsible, when in power, for forcing the U.S. air bases out of the Republic. If he should come back into power the Zone officials fear he could make it very unpleasant for them.

There are all sorts of rumors about the connection of Arias and his followers with the Communists. Nothing has been proved on this point. But the activities of the Communies in the Republic are well known. They are aimed at maintaining a constant state of unrest. And their main theme is anti-Americanism, the same as that of Arias.

Pfc. Cox to Supply Group

Pfc. Glenn A. Cox, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Cox, Sr., route 2, Sedalia, who has enlisted in the air force for future training as an aviation cadet, is now assigned to the maintenance and supply group at Reese Air Force base, Texas. While awaiting a class vacancy Pfc. Cox will study maintenance of the aircraft he later will learn to fly.

Private First Class Cox is well qualified for cadet training. He attended Smith-Cotton high school at Sedalia and later entered Central college at Fayette before transferring to Southern Methodist university at Dallas, where he received his degree. Private Cox came to Reese from Lackland AFB upon completion of basic training there.

Acheson Assured Of Job

Truman Announces Secretary To Stay 'As Long As I Do'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—President Truman said crisply and emphatically today that "as long as I am President of the United States," Dean Acheson is "going to be secretary of state."

And that, Mr. Truman said with a chuckle, may be for a good while.

The President shook with laughter at newsmen's prodding inquiries as to how long a good while might be.

"Another four or five years?" a reporter asked.

Still keeping up a mystery about his plans for the 1952 Presidential election, Mr. Truman jovially accused the reporter of standing there with an innocent expression on his face and asking a "shotgun" question.

The newsmen would have to do their own speculating, he said.

Acheson Point Emphasized

In more serious vein, the President authorized direct quotations on part of his remarks about Acheson, thus emphasizing his determination not to yield to Republican demands that Acheson quit or be fired.

Presidential replies to news conference questions may not be quoted directly unless permission is specifically given. The last time Mr. Truman dropped a cabinet member—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in 1950—he told a news conference only 13 days before Johnson was let out that he contemplated no change in Johnson's status. However, that remark was not issued except for indirect quotation.

On other subjects, Mr. Truman told his news conference:

1. Today's announcement that the Air Force is forming its first "pilotless bomber" squadron of guided missiles was one of the things Mr. Truman had in mind when he spoke of fantastic new weapons that could wipe out civilization.

The President had talked of these super-lethal weapons in a speech at San Francisco on Sept. 4.

Dewey Meeting Satisfactory

2. As to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's call for a Pacific-East defense pact like the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, the President said this country has always tried to strengthen its defenses in the Far East.

Mr. Truman said his meeting with Dewey at the White House this noon was most interesting and very satisfactory.

3. Llewellyn Williams was fired as Secretary of Alaska because, Mr. Truman said, Williams was incompetent. No, there was no politics involved. In fact, he said, Williams is a Democrat.

The White House disclosed the dismissal of Williams yesterday. No reason was given then.

4. As soon as the Japanese Peace Treaty is ready, Mr. Truman said, he will send it to the Senate and ask for prompt action.

But he cautioned that prompt action with the Senate sometimes means a year or two. The Senate will take its own deliberate action, as it always does. He said dryly.

Pamphlet A Best-Seller

The President volunteered the information that following his recent plug for a pamphlet on federal expenditures entitled "The Budget in Brief," the booklet has now become a best-seller at the government printing office.

Old Party Rises To Fight Policy Of Iran Leader

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A pro-western Iranian politician emerged from retirement today to lead growing opposition to nationalist Premier Mohammed Mossadeq and his anti-British oil policy.

He is Seyid Zia Ed-Din Tabatabaie, 62, who served as minister for three months after leading a coup d'etat 30 years ago. He launched his fight to depose Mossadeq by re-opening headquarters of his Eradeye Mell (National Will) party, dormant six years.

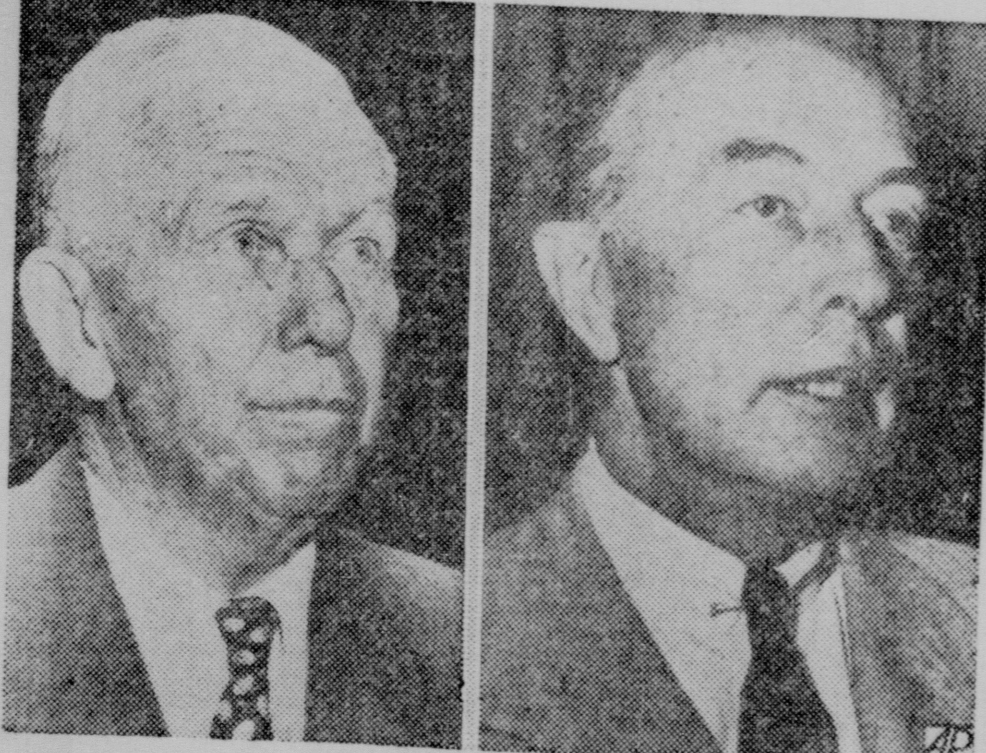

In a speech before several hundred supporters, Seyid Zia accused Mossadeq government leaders of following a creed "of instigating and encouraging the killing of their political opponents." He promised free speech, more equitable taxation and land reform.

On the subject of oil nationalization he parried newsmen's questions, saying merely "oil has been nationalized—nothing can be done without parliamentary approval."

The British in particular are hoping for Mossadeq's fall. His political fortunes have not been helped by recent British moves putting the financial squeeze on Iran's economy. Today Britain ordered British ships not to deliver any more goods to Iran. The squeeze is already being felt.

British spokesmen here felt that Seyid Zia, while not planning to cancel the popular nationalization law, will adopt a more moderate policy. They feel he might agree to British management of the oil fields and resumption of operations which have been at a standstill for two and a half months.

Big Three Approve Contract Of Peace With West Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Big Three Foreign Ministers reached final agreement tonight on terms of a "peace contract" proposal to bring Western Germany into the free world defense lineup.

American, British, and French high commissioners will be instructed to negotiate with the West German government to a postwar settlement which provides:

1. Virtual complete independence for the West German regime in foreign policy and domestic matters.

2. Abolition of the present Allied three-power high commission and substituting ambassadors.

3. Changing the status of occupation troops to defense forces.

The settlement of the German question agreed to, the British, American and French foreign ministers turned to other problems.

An informed official who disclosed the Big Three agreement on Germany said a formal joint communiqué will be issued tomorrow to announce actions taken by the Foreign Ministers on Germany and other key world war problems.

Another Session Set

Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Morrison and French Foreign Minister Schuman are to meet again tomorrow morning for the seventh time since their conference began Wednesday.

Officials described the "peace contract" as liberal, but said the Allies intend to preserve some powers.

These would include the right to step into German affairs if Communism threatens to overthrow the new West German republic either by a domestic coup or outside aggression.

Officials who reported on discussions so far after a 90-minute night session, said the ministers also discussed these issues today:

1. Possible arrangements to speed up a peace treaty for Austria.

2. Italy's plea for drastic changes in its 1947 peace treaty to open the way for fuller rearmament.

3. American negotiations with Franco Spain which are aimed at obtaining military bases needed for Western European defense.

Formal Announcement Friday

Although behind schedule in their talks, the three ministers nevertheless hoped to wind up their five-day conference with a formal joint announcement of their decisions around noon tomorrow.

Afterward, accompanied by their finance ministers, they are to fly to Ottawa for a special meeting of the twelve-nation North Atlantic Pact Council opening Saturday.

Government Extends Wheat Price Support

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today that because of weather damage to wheat in the field, its price support program is being extended to cover No. 4, No. 5 and sample grade wheat.

In past years, these grades have not been eligible for price support.

These grades will be subject to discounts under the loan program. The department said this provision and the program will make it possible for farmers to hold damaged wheat, resulting from this year's abnormal weather, under loan or government purchase agreement until it can be marketed in an orderly manner.

No Action Transpires In Thursday Session Of Redistrict Board

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Senate committee on redistricting was forced to adjourn today when no one appeared to offer testimony.

The committee is holding hearings on a bill introduced by Sen. J. P. Patterson, (D) of Caruthersville. It would eliminate two of Missouri's congressional districts. The state, which now has 13 districts, must reduce that number to 11. While Missouri did not lose population in the 1950 census, it did not keep pace with the growth of other states.

Hearings will resume Monday noon.

Opponents Wind-Up Debate

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A special House committee took under advisement tonight a tough problem—whether Missouri should establish a state supported four-year medical school and where it should be located.

Rep. Austin Hill (D) of Howard county, chairman, said his committee hopes to have a solution to the problem ready by the time the House comes back into full session Sept. 25.

Opponents in the long battle finished their arguments today.

Leaders in the Missouri Medical Association teamed up with spokesmen for the city of Kansas City to argue for the school's establishment in that western Missouri metropolis.

Columbia Receives Support

But Powell B. McHaney of St. Louis, president of the university board of curators, had the help of a couple of doctors in his argument in favor of Columbia.

The Kansas City supporters struck again and again with the idea that a large metropolitan area is necessary to provide the stockpile of clinical cases necessary to the education of a good doctor.

Columbia and its surrounding area couldn't offer such a mass of clinical material, they said.

McHaney disagreed with that. He said, too, that the doctors were thinking only of doctors.

"I've got to think of the good of the university and the good of the state of Missouri," he said.

Separation Destroys Unity

Separation of the medical school from the university would be costly and tend to break down the interlocking operation of the university's other schools, McHaney said.

He added that putting the school in Kansas City would deprive many rural Missourians of its facilities when they are ill.

The doctors, headed by Dr. C. E. Virden of Kansas City, argued that instead of a teaching hospital at Columbia, money should be spent in establishing small regional or county hospitals in the rural areas. That would be a major factor in enticing young doctors to the country, he said.

Dr. Virden, president of the Missouri Medical Association, called upon 15 other members of the association to bolster his view.

The argument over whether the state should set up a four-year medical school has been going on for years. In the past six years, it has settled down to a battle between Kansas City and Columbia.

Late GOP Move Cuts Fund

Senate Votes 79-0 To Allot 60-Billion To Military Growth

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Senate passed the largest single military spending bill in history today, voting almost 80-0 to approve 60 billion for America's expanding armed forces.

Just before passage of the huge defense measure, administration leaders accepted an amendment by Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) to cut the total funds by a straight 2½ per cent. At that time they stood at $61,033,856,030. Smith and other senators estimated the last minute cut would save about $1,500,000,000, but added that this figure is subject to revision.

No Dissenting Vote Cast

The final roll call vote was 79 to 0.

Closing stages of the debate were marked by repeated efforts to reduce the size of the bill in recorded and voice votes, but Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) floor manager for the measure, beat them all off until the Smith Amendment was introduced.

Later, O'Mahoney told reporters the bill carried $59,508,009,630 as finally passed.

This was $3,473,292,400 more than the $56,034,717,200 voted by the House.

O'Mahoney said the Secretary of Defense would have authority to apply the 2½ per cent cut approved by the Senate just before passage to selected items.

He said the entire amount, for instance, could be taken out of the $5,000,000,000 added by the Senate to expand air power.

Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) told the Senate the towering totals would subject the country to the risk of becoming "permanently a garrison state," while Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) contended it would give the nation "financial indigestion."

A Senate-House conference committee will adjust the difference in the two versions.

Yesterday the Senate clamped a two-year limit on the authority of the Army and Air Force to spend the funds. The Navy was exempted.

The largest previous spending bill passed by Congress was a $59,034,839,673 appropriation for the Army and Air Force for the fiscal year 1944. This wartime measure did not include $27,637,226,198 appropriated for the Navy in a separate bill. At that time the Navy was not linked with the other armed services in the defense department.

O'Mahoney accepted one $70,000,000 reduction in research and development funds proposed by the House.

Another witness today was J. Frank Williams, the RFC examiner of the loan. He swore that he had never been urged by Boyle to support the loan, adding "I have never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Boyle."

Williams testified he did know Mix Siskind, Boyle's law partner, and E. Merl Young, a one-time freemason of the White House who was accused in a previous RFC investigation of using political influence to get government loans for private companies. Williams said neither Siskind or Young approached him about Lithofold's loan.

While the Lithofold inquiry was getting underway, Boyle urged another Senate Committee to "outlaw the technique of complex baseless and defamatory attacks on individuals which go beyond the bounds of campaigning" in political contests.

Boyle laid his proposal before an elections subcommittee studying legislation to make American elections "more reflective of the will of the people."

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) asked the Democratic chairman whether it was true that Young was his "alter ego" in the Democratic committee in 1948.

Boyle said that he was merely a volunteer worker with the committee in 1948 and that Young was just another volunteer at the headquarters, answering telephones and running errands.

Heavy Rains Break Texas Heat Wave, But Come Too Late

DALLAS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The historic Texas heat wave and drought was cracked in most of the state today.

Heavy rains and chill weather followed movement of a Canadian cold front southward across the state.

The rains were mostly too late to help 1951 crops. In fact, they interfered with harvest of cotton, sorghums, corn, rice and peanuts. Some cotton will be down-graded because of rain.

But in the cities shivering citizens drew blankets around them as the cold front arrived. And in the cattle country, ranchers hoped their land would green up.

Cities began cancelling restrictions on lawn sprinkling and car washes as lakes and reservoirs caught the runoff of the best rains since June.

A drought of a year and a half which had gripped the famed King ranch in south Texas was broken as up to four inches fell. More than ten inches of rain flooded hundreds of homes in the south Texas city of Alice.

The Red Cross declared an emergency. The rain continued today. Its population is 21,000.

"Alice is literally sitting in a lake," editor Curtis Vinson of the Alice Echo said.

Pressure Led To Application For RFC Loan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The ex-treasurer of a St. Louis printing firm told a Senate committee today that the President of the company had pressed him to apply to the White House for help in getting a $645,000 RFC loan.

The witness was E. J. Toole, former treasurer of the American Lithofold Corporation. He testified before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, which is trying to find out whether William M. Boyle Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, used his political influence to assist in obtaining the loan.

Toole's story was told in his diary, which has been turned over to the investigators. One entry said:

"Haven't heard from RJB since last Thursday, when he was pressing, yes insisting, on having Cecil Green call the White House in an effort to get some 'high influence' used to accelerate the approval to our loan."

Toole Refused To Act

"I wouldn't do it, and Green agreed not to do it. As I told him, we had been receiving complete cooperation from the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation) officials."

Toole identified "RJB" as R. J. Blauner, then president of the company. He has testified at a private session of the committee.

The conversation recorded in the diary took place Feb. 3, 1949, Toole said. Later that year, after the company had retained Boyle as a legal consultant, it obtained the loan upon its fourth application.

Boyle has denied any connection with the loan and has expressed his willingness to testify in the investigation.

Another witness today was J. Frank Williams, the RFC examiner of the loan. He swore that he had never been urged by Boyle to support the loan, adding "I have never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Boyle."

Williams testified he did know Mix Siskind, Boyle's law partner, and E. Merl Young, a one-time freemason of the White House who was accused in a previous RFC investigation of using political influence to get government loans for private companies. Williams said neither Siskind or Young approached him about Lithofold's loan.

While the Lithofold inquiry was getting underway, Boyle urged another Senate Committee to "outlaw the technique of complex baseless and defamatory attacks on individuals which go beyond the bounds of campaigning" in political contests.

Boyle said that he was merely a volunteer worker with the committee in 1948 and that Young was just another volunteer at the headquarters, answering telephones and running errands.

St. Louis Woman Charged With Murder Of Her Child

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A true bill charging first degree murder was returned today against Mrs. Mary Anastas, 28, in the fatal slaying of her six-month-old son six years ago.

Mrs. Anastas, a waitress, told police of the death last July. In a signed confession she said she had scalded the child in a hotel wash basin in May 1945.

Eastern Battle Rages

UN Reports Show Huge Red Buildup On Western Front

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, 14.—(AP)—Fierce fighting raged on eastern Korean hill tops Thursday while at least 250,000 tank-supported Red troops were reported massed along the western battle front for a possible "full moon" drive toward Seoul.

AP war correspondent Sjan Carter reported there was some speculation among Eighth Army officers that the Red offensive in the west—if it develops at all—may come this next week-end when the moon is full.

However, other sources still were inclined to doubt that the Communists plan an immediate attack. These officers pointed out there is no indication that Communist troops have received full assault rations and equipment for an offensive.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo has disclosed that 40 re-fitted and re-equipped Communist divisions have been firmly identified along the battlefield and at least 30 more divisions in rear areas between the front line and Manchuria. Most were deployed in Western Korea where the terrain is less rugged.

1,200 Red Planes Ready

The Communists are believed to have 250 Soviet-built T-34 tanks in the west and 1,200 Manchurian-based planes for support.

For the past month, the heaviest fighting has been on the east-central front, north of Yangju and Inje. But it was believed unlikely, Carter said, that the Reds would launch a major drive in the wild Taebak mountain range that juts across that front.

Most of the Red troops in Eastern Korea are North Koreans who have been mauled in recent fighting. In the past, major Red offensives have been spearheaded by Chinese troops who have most often attacked under the light of a full moon.

Allied officers feel the purpose of a Communist offensive would undoubtedly be to push the United Nations below the 38th parallel.

Thus Allied negotiators might be forced to accede to the Red armistice buffer zone on the pre-war political boundary.

Enemy Troops Die In Bunkers

In the eastern battle of the hills the Reds preferred to die in their bunkers rather than yield to Allied fire superiority and infantry assaults.

A drive for new heights north-east of the hard-won punchbowl above Inje was held up for a time Thursday when an enemy force cut out two assault infantry units. The companies escaped later by smashing a North Korean road block.

On one hill seized during the day Allied soldiers counted 105 enemy dead, an estimated 50 wounded and took 12 prisoners. Allied casualties were only a fraction of the enemy's.

39 Passengers Aboard French Plane Missing Over Mediterranean

PERPIGNAN, France, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Planes and ships combed the Mediterranean today for a missing French airliner with 39 persons aboard.

Officials of the airline at Marseille said they held out little hope for those aboard. The plane, a DC-3, was en route from Toulouse, France, to Oran, Algeria.

It was last heard from at noon Wednesday while flying at 8,000 feet off Spain. Airline officials said at that time the craft was only 15 minutes flight from the center of a violent storm.

New Panhandle Hearing Set For Oct. 29 In Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Power Commission today ordered hearings on a proposed rate increase by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., Kansas City, Mo., to reconvene Oct. 29.

The proposed $21,400,000 annual increase was suspended Sept. 4.

Allies Close West Germany To Czech Planes

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The western Allies have forbidden further flights across West Germany by the government air lines of Communist Czechoslovakia, which is at odds with them over the Oatis case and other issues.

The air ban went into effect without publicity at midnight Tuesday, it was confirmed today. Czech planes must make long detours over the Soviet occupation zone to the Baltic if they attempt to continue flying to western capitals such as Brussels and Amsterdam.

Whether they will make the attempt was not clear. The scheduled flight of a Czech plane to Amsterdam today was cancelled.

United States, British and French high commissioners informed the Czech military mission in Berlin in a brief note Monday that they had suspended Czech flight privileges "until further notice."

They gave no explanation, but the action is known to be one of several punitive measures the U. S. government has drafted as a reprisal for the Czech imprisonment of Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis, sentenced to 10 years on a charge of spying.

S-C Appears Well Balanced As '51 Grid Season Nears; Conditioning Makes Problem

Team With 12 Lettermen Will Use T, Single Wing

The 1951 version of the Smith-Cotton Tiger football looks fine and dandy when placed on paper, but Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, like all smart football men, doesn't figure his teams in that manner because of the many developments that can change the picture before the season gets into full progress.

Entering into the picture other than the potential ability of the team are things like Dow stresses at each practice, including conditioning, knowing defensive and offensive combinations and plays, being familiar with opponents and of course their own team spirit. Other items which always contribute to a team's success or downfall during a season are injuries, and the gremlin that causes what is known as "bad nights."

So far, the potential ability is concerned the Bengals are above average. Conditioning has been a handicap to date because of the slow, late start with fall drills. The first call was August 15, but due to the State Fair and other incident-ls, the past week was the first hard work the gridsters have encountered.

Well Seasoned Squad
With lettermen returning numbering 12, Dow's 1951 squad will be more seasoned than ones of the past several seasons. Half of the returning letter-winners were starters for the 1950 eleven, which won seven while dropping battles to the defending conference champions, Columbia and the always tough North Kansas City Hornets.

With a top-grade of juniors and sophomores and a few freshmen gridgers to combine with veterans the Bengals should have as good team balance as any conference foe.

To Average About 165 Pounds
As grid drills opened, it appeared the Tigers would have one of the largest teams in Smith-Cotton football history, but few workouts in the hot sun quickly eliminated such thoughts. Last year the team average was 162 pounds per man.

According to weigh-ins Friday afternoon, this season's crop will tip the scales at an average of around 165 pounds.

Dow explained the loss of the anticipated weight by pointing out that much of it was not solid, and as a result of workouts in the hot weather the extra poundage quickly rolled off.

Formations Fit Manpower
Again, as in the past several campaigns, Smith-Cotton will operate out of both the single wing and "T" formations. Dow said a combination would blend well with the 1951 manpower. For the single wing, S-C will have the needed power in Floyd Burton and Bob England, both hard-running backs. For the "T," alert Bill Arnold will take care of the quarter-backing with aid from swift back Richard Lane, Richard Lanning, David Lingle, Burton, England and a couple of others.

For the passing attack, Dow needs a proven pass catching end or two to team with the bullet-tossing Arnold to give the Bengals a top end-passing attack.

Herb Ford is the leading candidate for opening kick-offs, but the punting assignment is a toss-up between promising freshman back Richard "Buck" Bennett and senior Gene Rathburn.

Five Defenders
Defensively, the Tiger line may well prove capable of piling blockers and ball-carriers like cord wood. Each man has good size and some experience.

Two-year letterman Stan Walsh, provisional letter winner Gene Rathburn, and transfer student Wilbur Bain are in a three-way battle for the guard positions. Walsh, 160 pounder, starter last year and played often in '49. Rathburn, who also is a fine punter, saw limited service last year. He weighs 160. Bain, a scacker, 175 pounder, enrolled at S-C after the 1950 football season. In pre-season practice his aggressive and accurate play has been a welcome surprise.

Allcorn, Phelps At Tackle
Lanky Don Allcorn and huge Jim Phelps figure for starting tackle berths. Allcorn, a starter in several games last season, tips the scale at 185, but his versatile ability makes-up for any absence of weight. Phelps is in a new role as a starter, but was a reserve on the squad last year. He weighs 180.

Schulz At Center
In 160 pounder Floyd Burton, the Bengals have one of the top offensive backs in high school circles in this area. The other half-back post will go either to David Lingle, Richard Lanning, or Bobby Lane. All are about the same caliber players with perhaps Lingle being the fastest.

England, the probable fullback, is a provisional letter winner. He was out most of last season. His giant frame and terrific power makes him a Dow type fullback, similar to Harold Mickens and Boy Ray of years gone by. England weighs 175.

Ample Reserve Depth
In reserves, the Bengals will have adequate and capable depth. Substitute linemen will hold up the forward wall's average weight while backfield reserves are somewhat lighter than the regulars.

Boys out, but not mentioned above are no doubt working as hard as the mentioned probable first stringers, but at the present time the above picture looks the way the curcis will fall for the season's opener.

The other boys out are: Jim Schmidt, Bill Dey, Dan Brooks, Charles Walton, Kenneth Hill, Phillip Wulff, Harold Hughes, Ernie Deue, Sonny Thomas, Jack Shelley, Benny Neil, Jim Shepherd, Melvin Jones, Jim Schaeck, Carl Miller, Bobby Case, Gray Gardner, Robert Buckley, Joe Walter, Tom Graham, Elroy Burton, Kenneth Dunham, Joe Green, Darrell Ford, Ben Smith, Bob Morgan, Bob Lien, Ben Walters, Donald Bennett, Millard Eaton, Jim Sande and Ben Smith. This does not include all since 70 uniforms have been issued, but the majority are named.

Roy Gentry Pirtle is again the student manager.

Model Plane Contest to be Held Sunday

C. of C. Sponsors The Seventh Annual Contest at the Park

The seventh annual model plane contest in Sedalia is being sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and will be held on the model plane flying field in the west end of Liberty Park. The contests will be held on Sunday, September 16. The contest is open for entries.

More than 300 invitations have been sent to model plane flyers in Missouri and surrounding states to participate in this meet and a large number are expected to attend.

A meeting of the committee was held this morning at the C. of C. office to complete plans for the contest. Members of the committee are: Jud Grayson, chairman of the recreational division of the Chamber of Commerce; Forrest Benner, director; Aubrey Owen, William E. Hurlbut, Jr., Dick Snow, Gerald Hayworth, Jr., Jack Cunningham, A. W. Haller, Ed Smith, John Ellison, Nathan Jones, Frank Evans, Dr. D. H. Robinson, Bob Cain, Ted Gardner, Kenneth Buchholtz and Ed Brown.

Registration will be at 10 a.m. and the contest starts at 12 noon. The Lamy Manufacturing company and the Central Missouri Equipment company are donating model engines for winners in the junior and senior events.

A new event in the contest this year will be one which has created much interest to spectators wherever it has been held. It is the combat flying event, and is flown by two contestants in the flying circle. An eight-foot streamer is fastened to the tail of each ship and each one tries to cut as much of the streamer as possible from his opponent's ship with his propeller. The contestant finishing the flight with the longest streamer remaining on his ship is declared winner and then meets the winner of another team.

Many Interesting Events

Other interesting events will be precision stunt flying with the models performing difficult maneuvers, speed events where these tiny model planes often reach the speeds of 140 to 150 miles per hour, and flying scale which are true scale models of senior aircraft and are judged on finish, detail and flying ability. Many of the builders of these scale models spend from six months to a year constructing them and are naturally very proud of them, and of showing them at contests.

The classes for the meet will be divided into three age groups, Junior (under 16), Senior (16 to 21), and Open class (over 21).

Twenty-two beautiful trophies will be awarded first and second place winners and, in addition, two special awards will be made to high point contestants.

Processing of the models will begin at 10:00 a.m. and official flying starts at 12:00 noon.

Large Stadium For Kansas City May Be Built

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Jackson County Planning Commission has taken under advisement a proposal to construct a $250,000 stadium near U. S. Highway 40 and Phelps road about six miles east of Kansas City.

An application for a special permit was filed August 29 by Ralph Spitzcaufsky, Kansas City, a general contractor. The stadium, including an extension face track and seating facilities for 60,000, would be on 80 acres about 900 feet from the intersection.

An adjoining 80-acre tract would be used for parking lots to accommodate 18,000 motor cars, Spitzcaufsky said.

The contractor said the stadium would be used for track meets, stage shows, fairs, professional football games, boxing and other events. He said plans do not include motor car racing.

Bradley Fixers Agree To Tell Story To Jury

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Bradley basketball players Fred Schlichtman and Jim Kelly, both involved in point-rigging a game last winter, have agreed to tell a grand jury "exactly what happened and give our stories."

The two players, both juniors last season, yesterday signed immunity waivers and agreed to appear before the Peoria county grand jury now in session.

Two other Bradley players connected with the bribe scandal, Gene Melchiorre and Aaron Preece, have not yet been heard from in regard to a grand jury appearance, state's attorney Michael Shore said.

The four players have admitted participating in a $4,000 payoff by gamblers for rigging point spreads in Bradley's game with Oregon State in Peoria, December 7, 1950.

Prisoners Flee Mexico Jail

MEXICO, Mo., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Two prisoners fled from the Audrain county jail this morning after pulling a gun on two trustees.

The escapees were Jack McWhitney, 22, and Robert H. McWhitney, 20, brothers from Springfield, Ill. They were being held for trial on an armed robbery charge.

Mrs. Marion Mundy, daughter of Sheriff Ross Vance, was in the jail office when she heard the two trustees yell. They told her that they were changing mattresses in one of the cells when the brothers accosted them. One of the prisoners pulled a gun and locked the two trustees in a cell.

They then fled through a side door, which had been left unlocked by the trustees while cleaning the jail.

Mrs. Mundy, who was alone, spread the alarm. Her father is in California returning a prisoner. Deputy Sheriff John Paul Jones was in the circuit courtroom.

The men were wearing blue jeans. One had a brown sport shirt the other a striped one.

Robert was described as five feet, nine inches tall, weighing 135 pounds with two hearts tattooed on his right arm and an anchor on the left arm. His brother, Jack, was described as about six feet tall, weighing 165 pounds and having blond hair.

They were charged with first degree robbery with a deadly weapon as the result of a service station robbery September 1. At the time of their arrest, state highway patrolmen said they had admitted burglaries at Joplin and Neosho in Missouri.

Interpreting The News

(For J. M. Roberts, Jr.)
India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru won a notable victory over powerful opponents when he was elected recently to the presidency of his own party, the All-India National Congress. But he has no guarantee of any lasting triumph.

Potent forces are arrayed inside the party against Nehru and his adherents. Probably they already have plans for fresh moves to unseat him or force upon his government policies that counter his own.

The intra-party struggle is not a new one. It began even before Indians independence Mohandas K. Gandhi held the conflicting factions together in those days, but disagreement over aims and aspirations actually helped bring Gandhi's own death by assassination.

Essentially, the fight for domination of the party and of India is a struggle between an age-old India and an emerging new India.

Nehru stands for the new India. Symbol of the old has been Purshottamdas Tandon, the Congress party President who was elected over Nehru's opposition last year and who had to step down to let the party's high command choose between him and Nehru as boss.

Tandon represented an alliance between ultra-Orthodox, stand-patter Hindus and some of India's most prominent capitalists. This combination is not new to India historians find. A tacit partnership between Indian social and money power has prevailed through centuries of outward change, they say.

Conservative Brahmins, dictators of the Hindu social order, and money moghuls, controllers of the country's wealth, can—and have in the past—established themselves as India's real masters.

Not all Brahmins, the supreme caste of teachers and priests, are seeking to perpetuate Brahminical control, nor are all Indian industrialists and financiers clutching for political domination. Nehru and many of his government colleagues are Brahmins. There are capitalists who support much of Nehru's program.

The rightists have support, though, from another element, the all-India Hindu Mahasabha, an organization of ultra-Orthodox Hindu zealots. The Mahasabha was found responsible in large measure for Gandhi's assassination by a fanatic who objected to the Mahatma's efforts toward Moslem-Hindu accord. It wants to wipe out all non-Hindu, foreign influences in India.

Obvious aim of the extreme rightists is complete restoration of the old order of Hindu society in which religion and government are indistinguishable.

Compromising and postponing, Nehru and the liberals have avoided a party split at the cost of some of their following and, lately, some of their stalwart lieutenants who have gone over to the Socialists or formed their own party.

Now, probably with an eye on the coming elections, the rightists have let Nehru take the party reins again. The Prime Minister still is the hero of the masses, the crowd-puller and the most potent vote-getter. The party needs him to hold the line against the Socialists—and the Communists.

But the struggle between old and new is by no means ended.

Says Better Telephone Service Is Had by the Dial System

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Some Missouri cities served by Southwestern Bell Telephone company cannot get increased or improved service until new dial system buildings are constructed.

Harold R. Towles, Missouri, general manager for Bell, said today this is because all available space in many present manual exchange buildings is now being used. He was testifying for the third straight day at the Public Service commission hearing on the phone company's application for an annual rate increase estimated at $13,000,000 to $16,000,000.

"In Cape Girardeau, for example, we cannot add subscribers or give increased service to present subscribers until the dial central office equipment is completed in June, 1952," Towles said. "The present building is completely filled with manual equipment."

Commissioner E. L. McClintock said a number of complaints had been received on poor service in Cape Girardeau. He added that the company had agreed to improve service there when it took over operations of the company in January, 1950.

McClintock came from Cape Girardeau.

Added More Operators
Towles replied that 40 new operators have been added in the Cape Girardeau exchange since that time and "the company's service index indicates a definite improvement."

The service index, he explained, is the number of calls out of 100 that are not answered by an operator within 10 seconds. In December, 1950, just before Bell took over operation of the company, the number was 12.8 he said. In July of this year it had been cut to 3.5.

John M. Joffe, Kansas City utilities counsel, asked Towles if he thought it fair to ask for a rate increase in Cape Girardeau "prior to the time when the company can increase the quantity of service."

Towles replied there was no question of fairness involved.

"We are serving 8,000 subscribers there with a very good grade of service. There is only 1.3 per cent of that number that can't get service at present," he added.

Testimony revealed there were 178 unfilled orders for phone service in Cape Girardeau in January, 1951, and the company estimates that number will be cut to 150 by the end of this year. Requests for a higher grade of service numbered 463 in January and will rise to an estimated 500 by the end of the year.

Under questioning by McClintock, Towles admitted that theoretically there should be rate differentials between cities where service is poor. But, he argued, his company does not render poor service anywhere in Missouri.

Gross Had Day At The Races

Witness in Craft Case is Returned To New York

By Robert Farrington
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Gambler Harry Gross, urbane and grinning after his one-day flight from his cop guards, was shuttled through legal proceedings today to put him back on tap as star graft case witness.

Brought back from New Jersey where he had spent a leisurely day at the races, he was hustled before a U.S. Commissioner to answer a federal fugitive warrant issued after he disappeared.

Commissioner Martin C. Epstein dismissed the federal charge so as to formally return Gross to custody of the state, which has billed him as chief prosecution witness in its gambling-graft trial of 18 policemen.

The trial, still in its jury-picking stage after two days, appeared likely to collapse after Gross, ex-boss of a multi-million dollar bookmaking empire, slipped away from guards at his Atlantic Beach, N. J., home Tuesday night.

Before the federal commissioner, Gross was in a jovial, wisecracking mood. Asked if he were the missing, he grinned wryly and said, "I guess I must be."

Gross' attorney said he will seek to vacate an order—issued after Gross vanished—f forfeiting the gambler's $25,000 bail. But District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said he will fight any attempt to restore the bail.

"I want to hold this guy," the prosecutor said.

McDonald, tired and grim, sat in on the proceedings involving his key witness, and then, with several deputies and Gross in tow, drove off from the federal building.

The district attorney would not say where Gross would be kept. "I'm going to put him under such guard that I'll know where he is when I want him," he said.

The prosecutor motored to Atlantic City, N. J., during the night to bring back the wandering gambler.

McDonald and Gross left Atlantic City about the same time—2:15 a.m. (EST)—but in separate autos.

The district attorney arrived at his Brooklyn office at 5:15 a.m.—and—tired out after two nights of hunting Gross—went to sleep.

McDonald said any possible bailing of Gross again will be up to Kings county Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, who ordered the $25,000 bail forfeited.

Pledge $58,801 to Flood Victims
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A union has pledged $58,801 to victims of July floods in Missouri and Kansas.

The money was paid or subscribed yesterday during the convention of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the plumbing and pipe fitting industry of the United States.

Contributors promised to increase the gift after they consult their union home offices. Part of the money, more than $12,000 was collected from the 2,000 delegates.

The remainder was pledged by local unions.

The flood of contributions was started by Archie Virtue, of Detroit, who asked that each delegate give at least $5.

The Chicago and St. Louis lodges donated $1,000 each.

The largest contribution—$5,000—came from the New York union.

A San Francisco delegate said: "I know what it is to suffer because of my family of twelve suffering in San Francisco earthquake of 1913. I'll give $25 in addition to my union's contribution."

The money will be administered by a two-man committee of Kansas City union leaders to members of the plumbers and fitters union who were stricken by the flood, to the Red Cross, Salvation Army and to other flood relief organizations.

Stoddard Roars Into Race Lead

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Two oldsters, still trying to decide whether a gasoline or steam driven auto is the fastest, pulled out of Erie tonight in a blinding rainstorm on the fifth leg of a Chicago-to-New York race.

Rube De Launty, 70, driving a 1911 Stoddard Dayton, led the race by approximately 45 minutes of elapsed time as he headed for Buffalo, N. Y. about 90 miles away.

Jack Brause, 76, operator of a 1913 Stanley Steamer, complained he's losing time because service stations aren't geared to handle his car. They can't pump enough water into the steam tank, he says.

The two drivers of the goggles-and-ruster era stopped in Erie only long enough to refuel and give the children of this generation a look at autos like grandfather drove.

The rainstorm struck just as the ancient machines headed out route 20. The drivers hope to reach Buffalo in time to catch a night's sleep before continuing to New York.

Group Seeks To End Sale Of Parley Cards
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The waging pools on major sports events which flourish in all parts of the country came in for a black eye today from the newly formed "committee on law enforcement problems in the field of sports."

The committee, created by Attorney General McGrath as a division of his national conference on organized crime, held a day-long session at the Justice Department. It tentatively agreed on five recommendations designed to divorce rackets from the nation's playing fields.

The recommendations will be submitted to the next sessions of the crime conference, to be convened here October 18-19.

Foremost among these was a plan for cooperative effort to abolish football, baseball and basketball pools. Such pools usually pay off in cash for an advance selection of winners, or for lucky, random drawing of winning combinations.

Navy Ground Planes In Alaskan Squadron
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Navy has grounded one of its patrol bomber squadrons on the Alaskan military frontier with Russia, as the aftermath of recent clashes.

Patrol squadron 9 was ordered out of the air temporarily for "moral reasons," Francis P. Whitehair, Undersecretary of the Navy, said in a letter today to Rep. Mitchell (D-Wash.).

The squadron was hit by three of the four crashes of Navy Private bombers which have cost 45 lives in the Alaska area during recent weeks.

A special board of inquiry is investigating the "baffling" and "distressing" accidents, Whitehair said. Mitchell had requested the grounding of all Navy Privateers (PB4Y-2) until circumstances of the tragedies have been explored.

Malaria Cases Show Increase During Week
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The public health service today reported 185 new cases of malaria in the United States during the week ended Sept. 8, compared with 186 in the preceding week.

The majority occurred among military personnel returning from Korea. Only 55 cases among civilians were reported for each of the two weeks.

Last week, Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general of the public health service, said more than 800 cases of malaria among military personnel had been reported by state health authorities in recent weeks.

Scheele said reports of more than 600 new cases in seven states during July alone emphasize the need for effective control measures.

Polio Cases Increase During Past Week
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Polio, currently in a decline for two weeks, showed an increase last week, the Public Health Service said today.

Officials, however, still believe the disease has passed its peak for this year.

During the week ended September 8, 1,869 new cases of poliomyelitis were reported compared with 1,762 in the preceding week.

The cumulative total of polio cases reported since the seasonal low last March is 14,309, compared with 14,092 for the corresponding period in 1950.

Machinist Wins $2,000 For Loss of Teeth
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Ora Thompson's two front teeth have cost the Public Service company $2,000.

Thompson, 26, a machinist, won that amount in a decision from the Court of Appeals yesterday.

He said he lost the teeth when a drunk knocked them out during a dispute over a Public Service company bus two years ago. He contended the man obviously was drunk and should not have been allowed on the vehicle.

Thompson won $3,000 in his original suit in circuit court but the Appeals Court trimmed the figure.

Scientists Develop Seedless Watermelon
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Soon you can sink your teeth into a refrigerator-size watermelon without bothering about all those pesky seeds.

Purdue university has developed such a melon. Commercial seedsmen will have it next year.

The new melon has only two or three seeds. It's round and weighs eight to ten pounds.

Purdue says the quality is high. Purdue experts got rid of the seeds by using a chemical called colchicine. It changed the internal structure of the experimental melons.
